Rob Lopresti is the environmental science librarian at Western. He is also the award-winning author of more than fifty mystery short stories. In his latest comic novel, GREENFELLAS, he combines these interests by writing about a mobster who decides to save the environment for his granddaughter, and uses his Mafia skills in the endeavor. Rob will read from GREENFELLAS and explain how he picked the brains of three Huxley College professors in writing the book, which one reader described as “about ethics as a last resort.”
